HERE COMES THE PENDULUM

Whenever centralization of political power in Washington has been mentioned for the last 10 years, heads wagged sagely and it was agreed that things were piling up in the capital at a terrific rate.

After the war boom started, the rate of the capital's growth increased so much that Washington simply ran out of housing accommodations. Two new super-hotels were started, just to take care of transients trotting to Washington to find out what the government wanted them to do.

Washington at last was the most important city in the United States. New York, which formerly had claimed the distinction, was an also-ran. So, having reached its peak of glory, Washington probably was doomed for the let-down now taking shape. There is talk of decentralizing the federal government, and some of it is very sensible talk. With more than 200,000 government workers jam-packed into the city already and more coming every day, the wisder heads are beginning to ask themselves if there might not be a better way than the present way.

The centralization pendulum is swinging back. On the heels of realization that there are too many bureaucrats in the capital is bound to follow realization that there's too much bureaucracy.

SIDESWIPING

The public is getting more doubts than thrills out of the sideswiping exhibition being staged by the auto industry and Leon Henderson, price control administrator.

The industry sideswiped Mr. Henderson first by announcing some price increases. In retaliation, he bore down on the industry, demanding that it give way and withdraw the increases. When it stuck to its guns, Mr. Henderson bore down again, this time threatening to fix prices on 1942 models.

This is interesting to watch, but it doesn't settle anything. Labor and materials are costing more. If the auto industry could discover a way to absorb rising costs without raising the price of its product, every mass production manager on earth would beat a path to his door.

However, the public has been led to understand that public policy and priorities called for fewer automobiles; some even say new cars are something America can get along without, if necessary. But if cars stay cheap and are still available, naturally they'll be purchased. And if Mr. Henderson thinks he can fix automobile prices he must never have heard of what happened during NRA.

The public does not profess to know what the answers to these problems are. It is looking for the light, as usual. It is not finding much light in the controversy between Mr. Henderson and the auto makers. They seem to be more interested in sideswiping each other than in arriving at the same destination.

PREVUE

Even Germany admits the Russians are fighting hard. Whatever may be its faults as an economic organization, Russia has the world's second largest army in point of size and, now that France's famed army is gone, probably the second strongest in point of power. If Russia can't fight hard, no nation can. Yet Germany necessarily is the favorite. Germany is better organized industrially to support its fighting forces. Its soldiers are better trained. Their level of intelligence is higher. They have the benefit of better officers and better staff work. Their equipment is better. They have had more experience. Their morale is stabilized by a military tradition that runs back through generations.

Rumors that National Socialists are being brought to heel by the German military caste are easy to believe. As in Japan, the German politicians who put their faith in the sword may expect to perish by it. The Prussian military type, arrogant, ruthless, knowing little but the art of slaughter and well satisfied in its ignorance, could not be expected to be grateful to Hitler and his intimates for putting the army back into power. It is recalled, in this connection, that this was one of the many theories offered for the flight of Rudolph Hess to Britain. Seeing what was happening, Hess tried to save the day by seeking peace.

The Russian war—an all-out clash between earth's two greatest land powers—is a prevue of what is going to be needed to subdue German military—more of everything used to make modern war. Russia cannot do it. Great Britain and the United States can do it. They are doing it, day by day, hour by hour, minute by minute.

GOOD FOR PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

Traditionally, the curse of military organizations is the inelasticity of the officer class. Between wars, military existence tends to grow in on itself, robbing armies of the new blood they need to fortify them for the next war.

Americans, who never have had a chance to watch a professional army of any considerable size, nevertheless have seen what happens to armies. They have watched what happened to France, which was splendidly prepared in 1914 to fight the Franco-Prussian war and whose army in 1940 was prepared to fight the war of 1914. They have heard indirectly of Britain's trouble in World War I and now in World War II with militarists who never have forgotten or learned anything. They have been told, furthermore, that a large part of the secret of Germany's success is its ability to keep the direction of its war machine out of the hands of time servers.

There is, in short, nothing that is more likely to increase popular confidence than such reports as the one given out at the close of last week that the war department, itself, is seeking authority to short-circuit the usual system of promotion in order to weed out officer material judged unfit and replace it with individuals who have proved their capability. While this may seem superficially to be only a move against older officers, it really is a move against officers who, either because of age or ability, do not measure up to the requirements for leading the kind of army the United States is building.

It seems to have occurred to somebody in Washington—and in plenty of time—that the United States will have to do more than prepare for the war of 1914, or the war of 1939, or the war of 1941. It is going to have to be ready to fight the war of, say, 1945, which is something that will take more imagination and energy than can be looked for in all the officers who happen to have made the grade in the last 20 years.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, July 1

AN EVENTFUL day, with far-reaching and radical effect on the life is forecast from the prevailing astral influences. There are signs of sudden and surprising adventures, probably in the love life, although all interests are under a sway of the precipitate and unpredictable. Business ventures of a novel or startling nature, with strange incitements or side issues are shown, although both old and new objectives may promise outstanding accomplishments. Thrills and romance may enliven the private life but particularly discreet and circumspect conduct is enjoined. Shun impetuosity.

Those whose birthday it is should expect a year of conspicuous achievements and dramatic experiences in both private and business life. New and old matters are under surprising stimuli, with the new profiting through bold and adventurous strokes. Possessions may have sudden spurts in values, probably through taking high chances, but the end is a firm and enduring security. The intimate emotional affiliations call for much restraint, discretion and moderation, to attain success.

A child born on this day should be endowed with many unusual talents, with much ingenuity and originality backed up by sound judgment and well-thought-out procedures. It should have a dramatic and successful life.

SUN STROKE HAZARD IS INCREASED

Methods of Handling Cases Are Discussed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Any day now about this time of year the man in the street may be called on to perform emergency treatment for somebody who is overcome with heat exhaustion or sunstroke.

Undoubtedly many deaths reported during hot weather as being due to heat stroke are really the result of apoplexy or heart attack.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

attacks. In cold weather they are ascribed to their proper cause, but in hot weather everything is blamed on the sun and the humidity. Excessive heat also is not borne well by those with high blood pressure and undoubtedly many apoplexies are brought on by the state of the weather.

A distinction is made between heat exhaustion and sunstroke or heat stroke. In heat exhaustion there is a condition of shock, lowered temperature, cold clammy skin, profuse perspiration, weakness and dizziness, but rarely loss of consciousness.

In heat stroke or sun stroke the essential feature is a complete upset of the temperature regulating mechanism of the body. Whatever centers in the brain control perspiration and the other factors in this mechanism become paralyzed and the body temperature rises to astonishing heights—as much as 109 degrees Fahrenheit. The skin is flushed, hot and dry, and unconsciousness is the rule.

Premontory symptoms are nausea and dizziness and anyone who feels these symptoms on a hot day should apply ice or cold water to the skin and get in the shade and lie down.

Treatment will depend upon which type of heat depression you are dealing with. There is nothing very complicated about it—simply common sense. If a person is cold, clammy, weak and obviously shocked he should be treated by rest and warmth to overcome the shock. If he is thirsty give him water, a little at a time, not too cold. If there is some salt handy put that in the water.

Professional Treatment

The doctor will give him fluids by vein when he gets him to the hospital and also sodium bicarbonate to overcome his acidosis, so it's not imperative to get fluids into him, but give him plenty of rest and protect him from the person who comes along and who knows just what to do—such as raise his head, or roll him over, or raise his arms up and down.

The person whose skin is hot and dry to the touch, who is unconscious and who has a bounding pulse should be treated by ice and water dashed on the body. Never mind about getting his clothes off. Throw a bucket of water over him with a good deal of force. The impact of the water does as much good as the water itself.

After the body is wet fan him. The evaporation of one gram of water produces seven times as much cooling as the use of one gram of ice rubbed on the skin. The great indication is to reduce the temperature.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

"THE GORGON'S MASK"

by Van Wyck Mason

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
"But how did Ishi's body come to floating off the island of Maui?" asked Kilgour.

The intelligence captain, after a short pause, asked, "Doesn't all the oil at Kaunapali and those chaps at the Floating Lily with their greasy clothes and their bruised heads suggest anything?"

"It does, now that you mention them together; it suggests a submarine. I thought of that when those odd-looking beggars at the Floating Lily didn't walk like ordinary sailors. Subs are in port ninety per cent of the time," he explained, "so their crews don't get sea legs as a rule. Caught a U-boat captain that way once."

"Right!" chimed in North. "I was pretty sure it was a submarine the minute I saw Ishi's body. They must have shot him out through a torpedo tube when pretty far down."

"Jove!" Ideas now were turning the English agent. "A submarine, by Neptune! A Jap sub!"

"Hardly that," North protested, "unless there's been an unsuspected mutiny in their fleet."

Kilgour shrugged and settled back. "Suppose, Hugh, that you air a few of your theories?"

"I will. I'll venture that this mysterious sub is owned or chartered by the Transpacific."

"Nonsense! Where could they find one for such a purpose?"

"Please remember that Nadia Stefan is interested in this—their were several serviceable submarines in Russia when the Bolsheviks came in."

"You can't seem to get that woman out of your mind," Kilgour remarked. "I say, aren't you stressing her part a bit too much?"

North promptly changed the subject with, "I can't understand Kanamura's position. He's against me; and the Teodoro murder would indicate he's determined to cripple Nadia's efforts for the Soviets."

"But I still can't make out where this unfortunate Teodoro Mazro fits."

"I've believed from the beginning that she is the axis upon which this whole mystery revolves."

orchestra. Suddenly Kilgour got up and began to fling out brief jerky sentences.

"I think I see it, Hugh. To begin with, Teodoro was one of your friend Nadia Stefan's organization. She sold out to Kanamura. Von Rentner and the Stefan woman found it out, turned her over to Captain Karen for liquidation."

"Bright boy," North murmured, "go to the head of the class."

"Karen took her aboard this submarine. Had her killed in his own peculiar fashion; then, as a grisly gesture, scratched those Red ideographs on the traitor's neck. Through Von Rentner he knew that Kanamura would be dining with Abner Polk that night. So, to let both Von Rentner and Kanamura know what had happened, he indulged in a macabre bit and set her body adrift from the sub. Now that's for a reconstruction of events!"

"Quite good!" North applauded. "And now I'll put in my two cents' worth. Nadia Stefan—he flushed in spite of himself—got it out of poor young Clark that I was coming and tried to scare me off with. When it didn't work she must have warned Von Rentner. He saw me take that hairpin from Teodoro's hair, and promptly let Nadia know about it. She must have bribed someone on the hotel switchboard to check on my conversation, and so learned that Miss Belknap was expected at twelve. Her impersonation completely fooled me."

"A bright girl, your lovely Nadia," he said. "Kind to animals and fond of her mother, no doubt; but, all in all, rather dangerous."

"The big thing I don't understand," North went on impetuously, "is Polk's part in this business. Last night it seemed to me he was on the outs with Von Rentner, who is supposed to be his partner. Furthermore, he had Kanamura. Von Rentner's deadly enemy, to dinner. Odd, isn't it?"

"Then there are some other obscure points." Without checking himself, the speaker hurried on.

"For example, I've yet to learn why Wang Tso Kin came to life so abruptly at the end of April. And for what purpose is this lethal submarine cruising about the island? I want to know her new base."

"Incidentally, I think it's the unfortunate Mr. Ishi we have to thank for that abrupt departure from Kaunapali. If only Kanamura wouldn't keep gumming our game! We could have swooped down on Maui and captured that sub."

The American agent raised a quizzical eyebrow at this companion. "Do you know, that 'Fourteen' in the cipher may refer to her!"

"Seems very likely—I-14. Yes, by Jove!" Kilgour smote his thigh a resounding slap. "There was an I class of Jap boats built at Kailua—" In a full career Kilgour faltered. "I-14! Looks like a Jap boat, after all. Rather knocks our theories about a bit, doesn't it?"

"I-14! Looks like a Jap boat, after all. Rather knocks our theories about a bit, doesn't it?"

"It does," was the intelligence captain's moody assent. "Better look up that class as soon as you can. In the meantime, I think there's only one thing to do and that is, interview Abner Polk."

"He may not talk to you," Kilgour objected.

"Somehow I think I can persuade him," North predicted just before ringing up Kalua.

"I want to talk to Mr. Polk. This is Mr. Nevins."

Kilgour listened intently to his colleague's conversation with Abner Polk.

"This is Howard Nevins. Yes, quite well. May I drop by this evening? You're having a dinner party? Well, then, I'd like a few minutes of your time afterwards. No. I assure you it's very important; something to do with your investments in China. You haven't any? Nonsense, I know better. Too busy to talk? I'm sorry, in that case I'll have to pay my call on the superintendent of police to-night. What? Just what I need. Then you'll expect me for dinner? Splendid! Delighted! On second thoughts, Mr. Polk, I'd like to talk to you before dinner. All right? Good! I'll be out by seven-thirty."

Captain North nodded over the telephone as most people do when they are listening.

"Oh, one thing more," he added. "My friend Mr. Kilgour is with me tonight. He was charmed with your garden that night. Bring him along? I'll call him and see. All right, then, I'll telephone you if he can't come—we'll leave it that way. Good-bye, Mr. Polk." The receiver went click!

"Dinner at eight and be on time," North announced. "I think we're going to see some real action to-night."

What the nature of that real action would be, he was still wondering when his cab swung past an elaborate iron grille gate and sped up a magnificent driveway to the vast white bulk of Kalua. At last it came to a halt before an exquisitely carved teak door.

Odd, North reflected with a faint stir of uneasiness, those massive doors had not been closed the night before. Odd, too that lights blazed in almost every room of the mansion. Odd, also, this growing presentiment of menace which was invading him like subtle fever.

"Miss Polk says please come right upstairs," a white-clad footman murmured as he took the intelligence captain's Panama.

Up a broad, winding flight of stone stairs North followed the diminutive Filipino, and presently came to a halt outside a white-painted door. On this the servant rapped softly.

"Miser Nevins, sir."

The door was opened at once by Polk himself who beckoned in the intelligence officer. It was a luxurious bedroom.

The steel magnate, aggressive and handsome, was more powerful than North had imagined, for beneath a silk shirt, muscles stood out in bold relief. In silence the two surveyed each other, mentally gauging each other's capabilities. Here, North decided, was no case for subtleties, innuendoes, or tactful hints.

"It appears, Mr. Nevins," began the millionaire, "that I made a mistake in being so intimate with you aboard the Malolo."

"Did you?"

"My friend Baron von Rentner seems to think so."

"What do you think?"

"I don't know—better sit down," Polk added. "I'm told you're not what I thought."

"A sportsman?" queried North. "Don't fence—you're an army intelligence officer."

"I am," the visitor admitted, then he added quite casually: "And I may arrest you, Abner Polk, on a charge of high treason."

The steel magnate's mouth grew tight as he scowled. "Treason?"

Cold, precise, and emphatic came the intelligence captain's voice: "Yes. For conspiring against the peace and security of the United States."

After a grim pause, Abner Polk rasped, "You're mad!"

"I'm not mad, and I shall arrest you, unless—"

"Unless what?"

"Unless you do your duty as an American citizen."

The master of Kalua fixed his visitor with stern, staring eyes. "You're bluffing, Captain North, but"—he shrugged a little—"last night I made up my mind to do just that. I won't explain now why I did what I have done. The main thing is, I want to remedy that harm while there still is time."

"Just a minute!" North raised a detaining hand. "Before you begin—from whom did you learn who I really am?"

"I don't know," Polk confessed with a simplicity that lent authenticity to the statement. "A woman phoned this morning and told me you were Captain Hugh North of United States Army Intelligence."

North inquired crisply: "Sure you've no idea who it was?"

"No, I don't think I ever heard

This celebration will consist of a program of nine motorcycle races, starting at 2 p. m. Races are sanctioned by the American Motor cycle association. There will be three events in each of three classes—expert, amateur and novice—distance will be five and eight miles. Topping the list of some 35 entries is last year's national dirt track champion, Mel Rhodes of Harrisburg, Gilbert Moats of Springfield, Cracker Beety of Cleveland, and many other outstanding riders.

FOOD STAMP PLAN EFFECTIVE TODAY

Food Budgets of Welfare Recipients To Be Increased

Importance of the food stamp plan in combating the widespread malnutritional diseases revealed by selective service rejections was hailed by County Relief Director J. W. Orr.

"When draft induction boards found it necessary to reject more than 40 per cent of our young manhood our country realized that something had to be done about getting the huge crops of our American farms on the tables of the underfed. We can't properly defend America without properly fed Americans. The stamp plan is the partial answer at least to the problem among our lower income groups", Orr said.

The stamp issuing officer, who will have official custody of both orange and blue stamps, is H. A. Moore, WPA certifying agent. He has established his office in the court house at Lisbon.

Charles H. Wolfe, who attended the Rotary International convention in Denver early in June, will give his report at the meeting of the Salem Rotary club Tuesday noon in the Memorial building.

ber of trainees to be inducted in the fiscal year, starting tomorrow. William D. Hassett, the President's secretary, said that the army would call on the selective service manpower pool for new trainees as those now in service finished their year's duty.

Asked whether this was "absolute evidence" that men now serving would be released when they finish this year, Hassett replied with an unqualified "yes". Afterward he added he was not a military lawyer.

De-Mothing Cabinet Feature Of New Process At The Paris Cleaners' Plant

New De-Mothing Cabinet Installed by Paris Cleaners

INSECTS PERISH UNDER FUMIGANT

Furs, Woolens or Other Garments Are Thoroughly Cleaned

Pictured in adjoining columns is the Polar Bear de-mothing cabinet and the door leading to the storage vault recently installed at the Paris Cleaners plant on the Benton road. In this cabinet all fur and woolen coats as well as other garments that are received for storage in the refrigerated and humidity-controlled large storage vault go through an eight-hour process that absolutely eliminates any adult moths as well as black carpet beetles, clothes moths, silverfish, bedbugs, cockroaches, book lice, and many other insects that attack clothing, furs, blankets and other woolens. Not only are the adult insects killed but so are the eggs and the larvae.

The fumigant used is a mixture of ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride, an absolutely harmless fumigant to any fur or woolen garment as well as any other fabric used in the manufacturing of clothing. Yet it is certain death to most any insect in all stages of its life cycle.

Your garment, as well as all others, go through this cabinet fumigation process. The fumigant is heated just enough to cause the chemicals to give off gas which is forced through the thickest of fur by a continuous air circulating fan for a period of eight hours, then all gases are blown out of the cabinet and the garments put into storage or cleaned as instructed.

Dairy Will Help In Outing Plans

The Old Reliable dairy on W. Pershing st. is making plans to supply many families with their Ice Cream and other dairy products for Fourth of July picnics.

Each year has seen a large increase in the requests for ice cream in gallons and larger containers. Giving the orders in advance permits the Old Reliable dairy to freeze the cream extra hard and pack it so that it is sure to be in excellent condition regardless of how far it is carried for that outing.

If you know just what you want why not phone 4971 right now and have that much taken care of. Cheese, milk, buttermilk, cream and ice cream make up the bulk of the dairy's business but they do handle soft drinks and will prepare sandwiches of most any kind for those wishing to eliminate these details of a picnic lunch.

Metzger Presents "Singing Strings"

"Three girls with pep," the "Singing Strings" are called, and their entertainment ably proves the description. They play two violins and piano, sing solos and harmonize.

Thousands of Trucks for the U. S. Army

Above—Col. E. H. Besse, Commanding Officer, U. S. Army Quartermaster Depot, Fort Wayne, Michigan, receives from W. J. O'Neil, President Dodge Division, Chrysler Corporation, the keys for the 40,000th truck built by that company for the U. S. Army during the last 12 months. With Col. Besse is Major E. A. Suttles, Chief Army Inspector. Below—Lieut. J. C. Williams stands at attention beside one of the many long rows in the veritable sea of Army trucks ready for shipment from the Dodge plant. Consisting of troop transports, weapon carriers, radio cars, ambulances and command cars, these vehicles will play a substantial part in the Army maneuvers this summer. Production of Army trucks is being continued by Dodge at the rate of over 250 a day.

SAFETY IS URGED IN HOLIDAY DRIVE

Dodge Official, Veteran Driver, Has Few Tips For Motorist

Right now, when the road map is the favorite reading of motorists planning their summer vacations, and when thousands will celebrate July 4th behind the steering wheels of their cars—these travelers will do well to read timely safety advice stressed by E. J. Poag, assistant general sales manager of Dodge, whose extensive business trips make him a steady frequenter of the country's highways.

Traffic Plentiful
"When the holiday driver starts on his journey, he is rarely alone; more often he is accompanied by his family or by friends. The roads over which he travels frequently are unfamiliar roads, and the holiday traffic he encounters is plentiful, to say the least."

"Since the traffic situation is bound to be like this, especially during vacation time, the least sensible motorist can do is to make sure of the mechanical condition of his car, particularly with respect to the five cardinal points of brakes, steering mechanism, lights, tires, windshield wiper. The insurance which safeguards these few adjustments is simple enough; it consists in a visit to the dealer or service man whose bill for the work will in most cases be negligible."

In Calvary cemetery. Friends may call from 7 to 9 tonight at the Woods funeral home.

Fire Is Extinguished

LISBON, June 30.—A roof fire at the plant of the National Brass & Copper Co. was extinguished at 9:30 p. m. Saturday by the Lisbon fire department. Rafter over the boiler room caught fire.

Fire Chief J. F. Steele issued a warning today to motorists who flocked to the scene of the blaze Saturday and caused a traffic jam. The truck had difficulty in returning to the station until the curious motorists got away.

CLEVELAND, June 30.—Judge Frank J. Lausche has announced he will resign from the common pleas bench to run for mayor of Cleveland at the Sept. 28 primary. A Democrat and 45 years old, Judge Lausche has held his present office five years. Two Republicans, Mayor Edward Blythin and Arthur H. Day, former Ohio supreme court judge, have announced their candidacies.

Consulate Is Closed

Woman Fatally Burned

CLEVELAND, June 30.—Mrs. Mary Senold, 50, of Cleveland, was burned fatally in a fire which destroyed a cottage in Geauga county.

ELKHART, Ind. — An Elkhart housewife reported a truck driver who brought a load of coal to her house was a flower-lover's favorite. Rather than trample plants around a basement window, she said, he took them all up, opened the window, put in the coal, closed the window and then tenderly planted them again.

ICE IS IN DEMAND, SAYS LOCAL FIRM

Citizens Ice & Coal Company's Business Shows Big Increase

These hot days have seen a big increase in the special service the Citizens Ice and Coal company is rendering in supplying shaved, cracked and cube ice.

These special orders fill a definite need in the planning of that picnic or party. Ice prepared just right will make any beverage seem just that much better.

Shaved ice is like snow and certainly does play an important part in the serving of many drinks or if you prefer the cocktail size, pieces about the size of peas do meet with the approval of many. The regular ice cubes for such cooling as the lemonade jug or water is ideal and there are the regular large chunks in any amount wanted.

Pure ice, ice that is absolutely tasteless, clear and frozen from the finest deep well water is what the Citizens Ice and Coal company provides in literally hundreds of homes and business institutions that have come to the conclusion that ice at less cost has many advantages over the mechanical method of refrigeration.

Many claim that the point of economy does not enter into the matter at all, that they like it better because it does keep vegetables crisp, because the ice used in beverages is absolutely pure and tasteless and the fact there is always all the ice to chip or cubes to use in almost any amount. Yes, ice refrigeration does have many advantages.

DiMaggio Sets New Mark For Hitting In Consecutive Games

BREAKS OLD MARK WITH HITS IN 42 STRAIGHT GAMES

Leads Yankees to Double Win and 1½ Game Lead On Tribe

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Staff Writer
From today on it is Joe DiMaggio who must sit and watch nervously as one slugging youngster after another comes up to challenge his modern big-league record for hitting in consecutive games.

The long watch ended yesterday for George Sisler, the once-peerless first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, as he saw his record of hitting in 41 straight contests shattered after 19 years by the New York Yankee star in an exhibition that thrilled 31,000 fans in the nation's capital.

Joining Joe, the new king, slammed a double in the first contest against the Senators to tie Sisler's record, and then came through with a wildly-applauded single in the seventh inning of the nightcap to stamp his name in the record book.

Sustained Hitters
Perhaps inspired by DiMaggio's clouting, the Yankees are in the midst of one of the greatest streaks of sustained hitting ever recorded. In scoring yesterday's twin killing of the Senators 9 to 4 and 7 to 5, they ran the number of consecutive contests in which they had hit at least one home run to 28. Today they held a game and a half lead over the Cleveland Indians, who were throttled by veteran Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 3.

The Boston Red Sox lost ground to the Yankees as they divided a double-bill with the Athletics. Manager Joe Cronin hit a home run with the bags filled to spare a 13 to 1 victory in the opener, but Jack Knott stopped them in the nightcap, 3 to 2, on seven hits.

Tigers Win
Detroit broke a four-game losing streak when young Hal Newhouse set the St. Louis Browns down on four hits, 3 to 1.

The two national league battlers, St. Louis and Brooklyn, fought to a draw as each divided a double-header, the Cardinals retaining their one-game lead.

Bucky Walters of Cincinnati out-pitched Lon Warneke and two other St. Louis flingers to win yesterday's first encounter 6 to 2, but the Cards came roaring back to slug out a 14 to 4 win over five assorted Red throwers in the second.

Brooklyn gained a split with the Boston Braves, winning 5 to 2 and then losing 6 to 2 in the nightcap. Frankie Frisch's Pittsburgh Pirates thumped the Chicago Cubs twice, 8 to 2 and 3 to 2, thereby vaulting nimbly into fifth place in the National. The Giants tightened their hold on the third rung by baffling the unfortunate Phillies, 10 to 7. A scheduled second game was rained out.

Mrugal Scores Win In Jolopy Races

George Mrugal, driving a Model A Ford for the Red Steer restaurant, yesterday won the Salem Jolopy races before nearly 400 people. Mrugal compiled a total of 16 points, awarded on the basis of 5-3-1 for first, second, and third in each of six races. Duke Pilch, driving a Model A for Jackson's Service station, took second place with ten points and Roy Lipplatt, last week's winner, driving a Ford V8 for Gray's Body Shop, took third with nine points.

The crowd witnessed a series of freak mishaps as the racers pelted over the dry, fast course. The front axle and wheels jarred loose from one car, another raced a full lap after his gas tank fell off, one went a half lap dragging a battery, while assorted body parts and bumpers littered the wayside.

Mrugal, the Lipplatt brothers, and Ray Strong competed in a jumping contest that closed the meeting.

Richard Zeigler, president of the association, today called for a meeting of all drivers at 7 p. m. Wednesday to discuss plans for the next race.

Announce Winners Of Golf Foursomes

The team of Joe Kelley, William Windle, and Richard and Walter Strain was the winner of the best ball foursome, played under one-half handicap, at the Salem golf club yesterday. The foursome turned in a 71 minus 5, net 66, tally to win.

In second place were Clifford Greenstein, John T. Burns, L. W. Knox, and N. I. Walken with a collective score of 73 minus 6, net 67.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, June 30.—(The Special News Service).—Going to be a tough job trying to fill Mr. Hughie Fullerton's shoes—for one reason, our dogs are too big—but here's try:

Quick Review
The Brooks are so anxious to unload Billp Phelps that they'll even consider selling him by the pound at current prices. Since turning pro just about a year ago, Patty Berg has traveled 50,000 miles and has conducted golf clinics at 28 states. The District of Columbia and Mexico. Between rounds she has played hundreds of rounds of golf. The Broadway betting game has made Fritz Zivic a 1-3 favorite over Bumby Davis tomorrow night, chiefly because it's been so long since Bumby put a good fight under his belt. Bob Feller has spiked that widespread yarn that he once broke three of his pop's ribs during a warm-up session out at Van Meter, Iowa.

Today's Guest Star
Victor O. Jones, Boston Evening Globe: "Boston fans who last September were calling the Braves the 'team of tomorrow,' now are calling them 'the team of last September.'"

Sports In Tabloid
That Hollis, L. I., barber who offered a free haircut to any customer who was in the chair listening to Red Barber when one of the Dodgers hit a homer, now is 39 haircuts in the hole. Henry Cabo of Mobile, Ala., comes up with a fine idea. He wants the Yanks to print enough tickets to the Lou Gehrig memorial game so that fans all over the country can get them for souvenirs at a low price. The proceeds from the extra sales would be turned over to the United Service Organizations. Gene Venzke, the miler, toured a Reading, Pa., golf course in 42 minutes. The 49 seconds, scoring a 91. His fastest hole was played in 32 seconds. For Worth has a sensational golf golfer named Polly Ann Riley. The fact that her initials spell P A R shouldn't hurt.

One-Minute Interview
Shorter Luster, Oklahoma coach: "During June, six Oklahoma U. football players eligible this fall, enlisted. Seventeen more of our best boys are registered. The players we are certain of are the ones who are married and have children."

Fills The Bill
Dick Cullum of the Minneapolis Times welcomed Lou Novikoff into the American association as follows: "What we've always needed in this league is a left-handed Russian who hits home runs and sings baritone."

And who was the wag who wagged that if the army really had made a new man out of Bumby Davis, gad, what a camouflage corps we must have!

Blue Sox Win From Negley Sunday, 6-4
The Salem Blue Sox yesterday defeated Negley 6-4, in a game at Negley. The Sox scored six runs on five hits but eight batters were hit with pitched balls. Herman "Red" Allison helped himself to a double and a single while pitching steady four-hit ball for the Salem club.

Three rookie outfielders, on trial during the Negley game, turned in standout performances for the winners.

The Printz Klub yesterday took both ends of a double header with 11-2 and 7-3 wins over the Owens Service team. The games were played at Dunn Eden Lake.

FELLER PITCHES TODAY AS TRIBE TACKLES BROWNS

Hurled Only One Loss, To Yankees, During Entire Month

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, June 30.—There was no doubt about the Indians being in second place today, for they were one and one-half games behind the Yankees, and once again it is Bob Feller's assignment to do something about it.

He takes the mound today against the Browns, with Denny Galehouse as opposition. Al Milnar will hurl tomorrow night and then the Indians will have two days of rest before taking on the Browns again in a Fourth of July double-header at Cleveland. And Feller undoubtedly will pitch one of those games.

During June Feller has accounted for six of Cleveland's 14 victories, as Jim Bagby and Al Milnar each got a pair and Mel Harder, Clint Brown, Joe Heving and Al Smith each took one.

Lost Only to Yanks
Rarin Robert's only loss during the month was to the Yankees, while five other pitchers were dropping a total of 10 games—Milnar and Bagby three each, Harder a pair, Brown one and Smith one.

Bagby was the victim yesterday as the White Sox administered a 9 to 3 pasting in Cleveland stadium, getting eight runs in one nightmarish inning, the sixth, after two were out.

Lodigiani, Appling, Eright and Solters singled, Chapman walked and Tresh singled, which was the end of Bagby. Mel Harder threw a wild pitch and walked Lyons and Holloway on eight pitches, in the latter case forcing in a run. Harry Eppenstat replaced Harder and walked Kuhel, forcing in the Sox's seventh run. Lodigiani came up again and singled again, driving in two more runs. Appling's fly ended the carnage, in which six hits accounted for eight runs.

All of the Sox' hits were singles. The Indians grabbed their last run in the seventh when Hensley's single brought in Campbell, who had walked.

PRINTZ KLUB TAKES DOUBLE FROM OWENS
The Printz Klub yesterday took both ends of a double header with 11-2 and 7-3 wins over the Owens Service team. The games were played at Dunn Eden Lake.

Cherry pounded out a homer for the winners in the first game while the second game was called because of rain at the end of the sixth.

RIDDLE AFTER 8TH WIN AGAINST CUBS IN GAME TONIGHT

Cincinnati Pitcher Leads National League With Seven Wins

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, June 30.—Elmer Riddle, who tops the National league pitchers with seven victories, will take the mound for the Cincinnati Reds tonight against the Chicago Cubs.

Charley Root, veteran, right-hander and native of nearby Middletown, will try his second victory over the Redlegs.

The Reds went from the sublime to the ridiculous yesterday at St. Louis, pounding out 17 hits in the first game to win 6-2, and going to pieces in the nightcap to lose 14-4. The Reds went haywire in the seventh inning of the second game, and the league-leading Cards had their biggest inning of the season, getting eight runs on four hits, two errors, four walks and a wild pitch, with a double steal thrown in.

GARBAGE WORKERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

YOUNGSTOWN, June 30.—Collection of garbage from Youngstown's 40,000 homes and business places was halted today when 27 garbage truck drivers and helpers went out on strike against the firm holding the collection and disposal contract.

A committee representing the strikers declared they want restoration of 25 cents a ton in their pay, claiming they originally received $1.95 but in the last six months only $1.70.

An official of the garbage hauling firm said, however, he had voluntarily returned 15 cents of the payout several months ago. The demands for a raise, he said, were made only last Saturday.
